DARTH VADER IN DIGITAL
AT GALAXY CINEMAS WATERLOO AND CAMBRIDGE
IN A GALAXY NOT SO FAR FAR AWAY...

Toronto, ON May 19, 2005 (TSX: CGX.UN) Residents of Kitchener-Waterloo and Cambridge have the exclusive opportunity to experience Star Wars Episode Three: Revenge of the Sith, the third installment of the Star Wars prequel trilogy, at Galaxy Cinemas Waterloo, Conestoga Mall and Galaxy Cinemas Cambridge on Hespeler Road, in high-tech digital format. Both cinemas are equipped with the most technologically advanced digital projectors in the world – and perhaps in the Galaxy!

These two digital projectors – there are a total of only five in Canada – enable Hollywood films to be projected onto the big screen in crystal clear, digital images. The stunning presentation is greater quality than high-definition and unbelievably clear and sharp. In particular, the Christie CP2000, arguably the most advanced digital projector available in the market, offers 2K resolution (greater than 1920 pixels per frame) that can be projected onto screens 50 feet wide and 26 feet high with precise clarity.

“We are always looking for ways to improve our guests’ entertainment experience,” said Pat Marshall, Vice President, Communications and Investor Relations. “By showing Star Wars Episode Three: Revenge of the Sith in digital, guests will view the innovative graphics and exciting special effects featured in the film exactly as they are intended to appear by the filmmaker. This is a great way to see a Star Wars film, especially with the incredible special effects.”
